MICHAEL FANG TO LAUNCH HIS FIRST EXTENDED PLAY

Fang's new extended play, "You're a Sick Nasty Person" is set forth to be released on October 30, 2019.

Texas, Dallas, October 30, 2019 – The youthful rapper is making his way to the hearts of his fans by introducing his first extended play. Michael Fang announced this new debut EP (extended play) to be released on October 30, 2019, across all the major streaming platforms including Spotify, Apple Music, Amazon as well as Google play. Fang added that his new debut EP – "You're a Sick Nasty Person" will comprise mysterious tracks to mesmerize his fans. All tracks of Fang's new Extended play are being recorded in his studio located in Dallas, Texas. Damn Tito and Karim Saidi are the enlisted producers in the album. As well as, Houston rapper Li Blanc is marked to be the only featured artist on the record. Although this is Fang's first exclusively produced record; however, the rest of the extended play is being produced, written, mixed, and mastered by Michael Fang himself.

The young and rage blood won't be less than a perfect title to mention Michael Fang. He has been witnessed to have an exceptional interest in the performing arts since childhood. In the flow of carrying
