

Rogers Jewelry Is Your Destination For Genuine Jewelry Appraisal

As a local jeweler in Quincy Massachusetts, Rogers Jewelry is able to identify and value your diamonds and any precious gems efficiently

14 September 2016, Quincy Massachusetts: Rogers Jewelry is the ideal destination for genuine and reliable appraisal of your jewelry items. You can count on them for an appraisal as they have the right knowledge, expertise and equipment to the job right first time. All the jewelry appraisals are carried by a trained GIA graduate gemologist.

Whether you are wearing your diamond jewelry each day or keeping it safely tucked away in your jewelry box, there is always a chance something can happen to it. That is the reason that makes an appraisal important. You may also need the help of an appraiser if you want to insure your jewelry. And choosing the right jeweler for appraisal of your diamonds and gem stones is a key.

You will never go wrong if you choose Rogers Jewelry but still you should consider looking into the following key points:

- Choose an appraiser who is a trained GIA graduate gemologist as they can assure you the best possible appraisal.
- Find out more about their procedure – You should make sure the appraiser’s gem lab features the latest equipment used in diamond and stones appraisal process. Do they have equipment like Diamond Probe , Leveridge Gauge, Digital Scale, Color grader, Binocular Microscope, 10X Loupe, etc?
- Do they provide complete written appraisals? You should always trust a jeweler that provides you complete written appraisals. It is important to have a written confirmation.

With over decades of experience in the field of diamond and gem stone appraisals, the famous gemologist Jeff Bertman said, “I take pleasure in saying we offer the best jewelry appraisal for diamonds and precious gems. We have a world-class gem lab to get the work done by a trained GIA graduate gemologist with vast knowledge and experience in gemology. We have all the latest equipment to use in the appraisal of diamonds and other gems.”

Tracy, a frequent customer at Rogers Jewelry said, “Thank you, Jeff, for your outstanding help. You helped me evaluate the value of my precious diamond ring. I will keep coming back for buying diamonds from your trusted store and will recommend others too.”

About Rogers Jewelry

Based in Quincy Massachusetts, Rogers Jewelry is a trusted full-service jewelry store including custom orders serving since 1944. They deal in a range of exquisite jewelry at an affordable pricing. They are honest and transparent in their dealings and their pricing is genuine and competitive. You can trust them to ask any questions about gems including difference between scintillation, dispersion, reflection, refraction and the ideal cut. They are a good source for your jewelry appraisal needs. They pride in offering