

Chakra- Wellness Tree of Life Pendant

Chakras are the energy centers of our body. The Sanskrit word "chakra" translates to "wheel" or "disc." Think of the chakras as spinning wheels of pranic energy located at different spots along your spine. Seven chakras begin at the base of your spine and move upward, ending with the seventh on the crown of your head. Each chakra has its name, color, associated stones and crystals, and energetic realm that it rules.

Chakra stones and crystals can be placed on your body to purify and balance the chakras, releasing all the negativity resulting in emotional release. They can heal the body and remove the life force energy. They can transform negative energies into positive energies and lead to good health.

Amethyst- It is a lovely potent stone, also known as a protector stone is responsible for healing you both physically and emotionally. Amethyst helps increase mental clarity and improve your inner strength, making them powerful crystals for meditation. Amethyst stimulates the crown chakra and helps to balance your thoughts and emotions.

Rock Crystal- A powerful therapeutic stone that helps heal old emotional wounds. They also help to enhance your sense of self-respect. It also helps to increase your energy and can cure a wide variety of ailments. There is not crystal whose features can be more closely connected to the spiritual realm than quartz.

Citrine- Citrine is a happy and positive stone that carries good luck and good fortune in the owner's life. It is a well-known crystal associated with success and prosperity and is sometimes referred to as the "Success Stone." It can be utilized to protect you from the unnecessary negative energy around you.

Aventurine- This stone can profit all areas of your life, specifically your creativity and intellect. It gives a sense of calmness and improves physical health. Beneficial for blood pressure, sinus issues, allergies, headaches, and sleeping issues. This stone helps you see the positive in any situation and guide you to a sense of inner strength you might not have known there.

Tiger's Eye - An influential stone that helps us better understand our emotions and release fear and anxiety in stressful situations. It encourages you to take action without letting emotions cloud your judgment. It is also carried as an amulet that protects people from ill-wishes

Opal- Also known as the "Eye Stone," is like a lightning rainbow of brilliance. It is a stone dedicated to the eyes that it inspires love, hope, and immense amounts of luck and happiness. Opal acts as a prism within a person's aura and helps bring the entire spectrum of light energy into your body, helping to clear negative emotions and boost feelings of joy and self-esteem.

Agate- This is considered a good luck stone that helps to raise your vibrational frequency and obtain better emotional and physical balance in your life. It is also believed to be an intense fertility stone that helps prevent miscarriages and dismisses discomfort during pregnancy. Agate helps with a variety of physical health issues like headaches, food issues or healing the colon, liver, spleen, and kidneys

Harmonize your soul with not just a pendant but a wheel of energy.

Keep your energy guarded with this beautiful tree of life pendant. Its primal essence is to defend you from any spiritual or physical harm. It's real and lovely stones will complement your neck and would convince people to compliment you. This pretty pendant promises superior energy protection, empowers your logical thought patterns, and reduces negativity, keeping you full of life and maximum motivation. It brings you out of your shell, making sure your voice is heard and boosting your confidence.

Why our customers love our pendant?

- Injects can-do attitude
- Motivates, you take action
- Delicate and pretty

View product